

MHK Website Review

Version 1: 6.5/10

Pros

- Brand colours match the business card
- Phone number everywhere: header, hero, sticky mobile button
- Real proof early: licence number, 5.0 stars, Top 10 awards
- Mobile friendly, keyboard accessible, one fast file

Cons

1. Empty "Add job photo" boxes made it look unfinished
2. Template feel: label, headline with one highlighted word, card grid, on every section
3. Review cards were paraphrased but looked like real quotes
4. Some claims were stretched ("serving since 2019" was really ServiceSeeking join date)
5. Paint stroke looked like clip art
6. Inverted Google map was heavy and odd
7. Quote form was email only
8. Form errors did not clear after fixing
9. No "how it works" steps, no FAQ
10. No favicon, no link preview tags

Version 2: 9/10

Con	Fix
Empty photo boxes	Removed. Real photos added later in a Recent Work section
Template feel	Every section has its own layout: numbered services list, lime proof block, step timeline, signature style About
Clip art stroke	SVG displacement filter gives real brush edges, plus a painted divider
Generic hero	Tilted replica of John's actual business card
Fake looking reviews	Real 5.0 score, what customers mention most, link to all reviews
Stretched claims	"112 jobs booked through ServiceSeeking since 2019", "ServiceSeeking named MHK a Top 10 Painter"
Map	Clean suburb list
Email only form	Send as text or email. Tapping a service preselects the job type
Sticky errors	Clear as you type

Missing sections	How a job runs, FAQ, licence verify link
Polish	Favicon, Open Graph tags, Call and Text bar on mobile

Version 3: real photos added

- Recent Work gallery with 4 job photos and captions
- "Our work" link in the nav, nav now collapses to a menu below 1080px so it never wraps
- Panania and Connells Point added to service areas

What would make it 10/10: finished "after" photos and before/after pairs from John.
